Acting for the health of all

Located between Nantes and Pornic, NatéoSanté, a French designer and manufacturer of professional air purifiers, is a company unlike any other. It is above all a personal adventure that has motivated us for more than 10 years: at the intersection of societal issues, environmental protection and health for all.

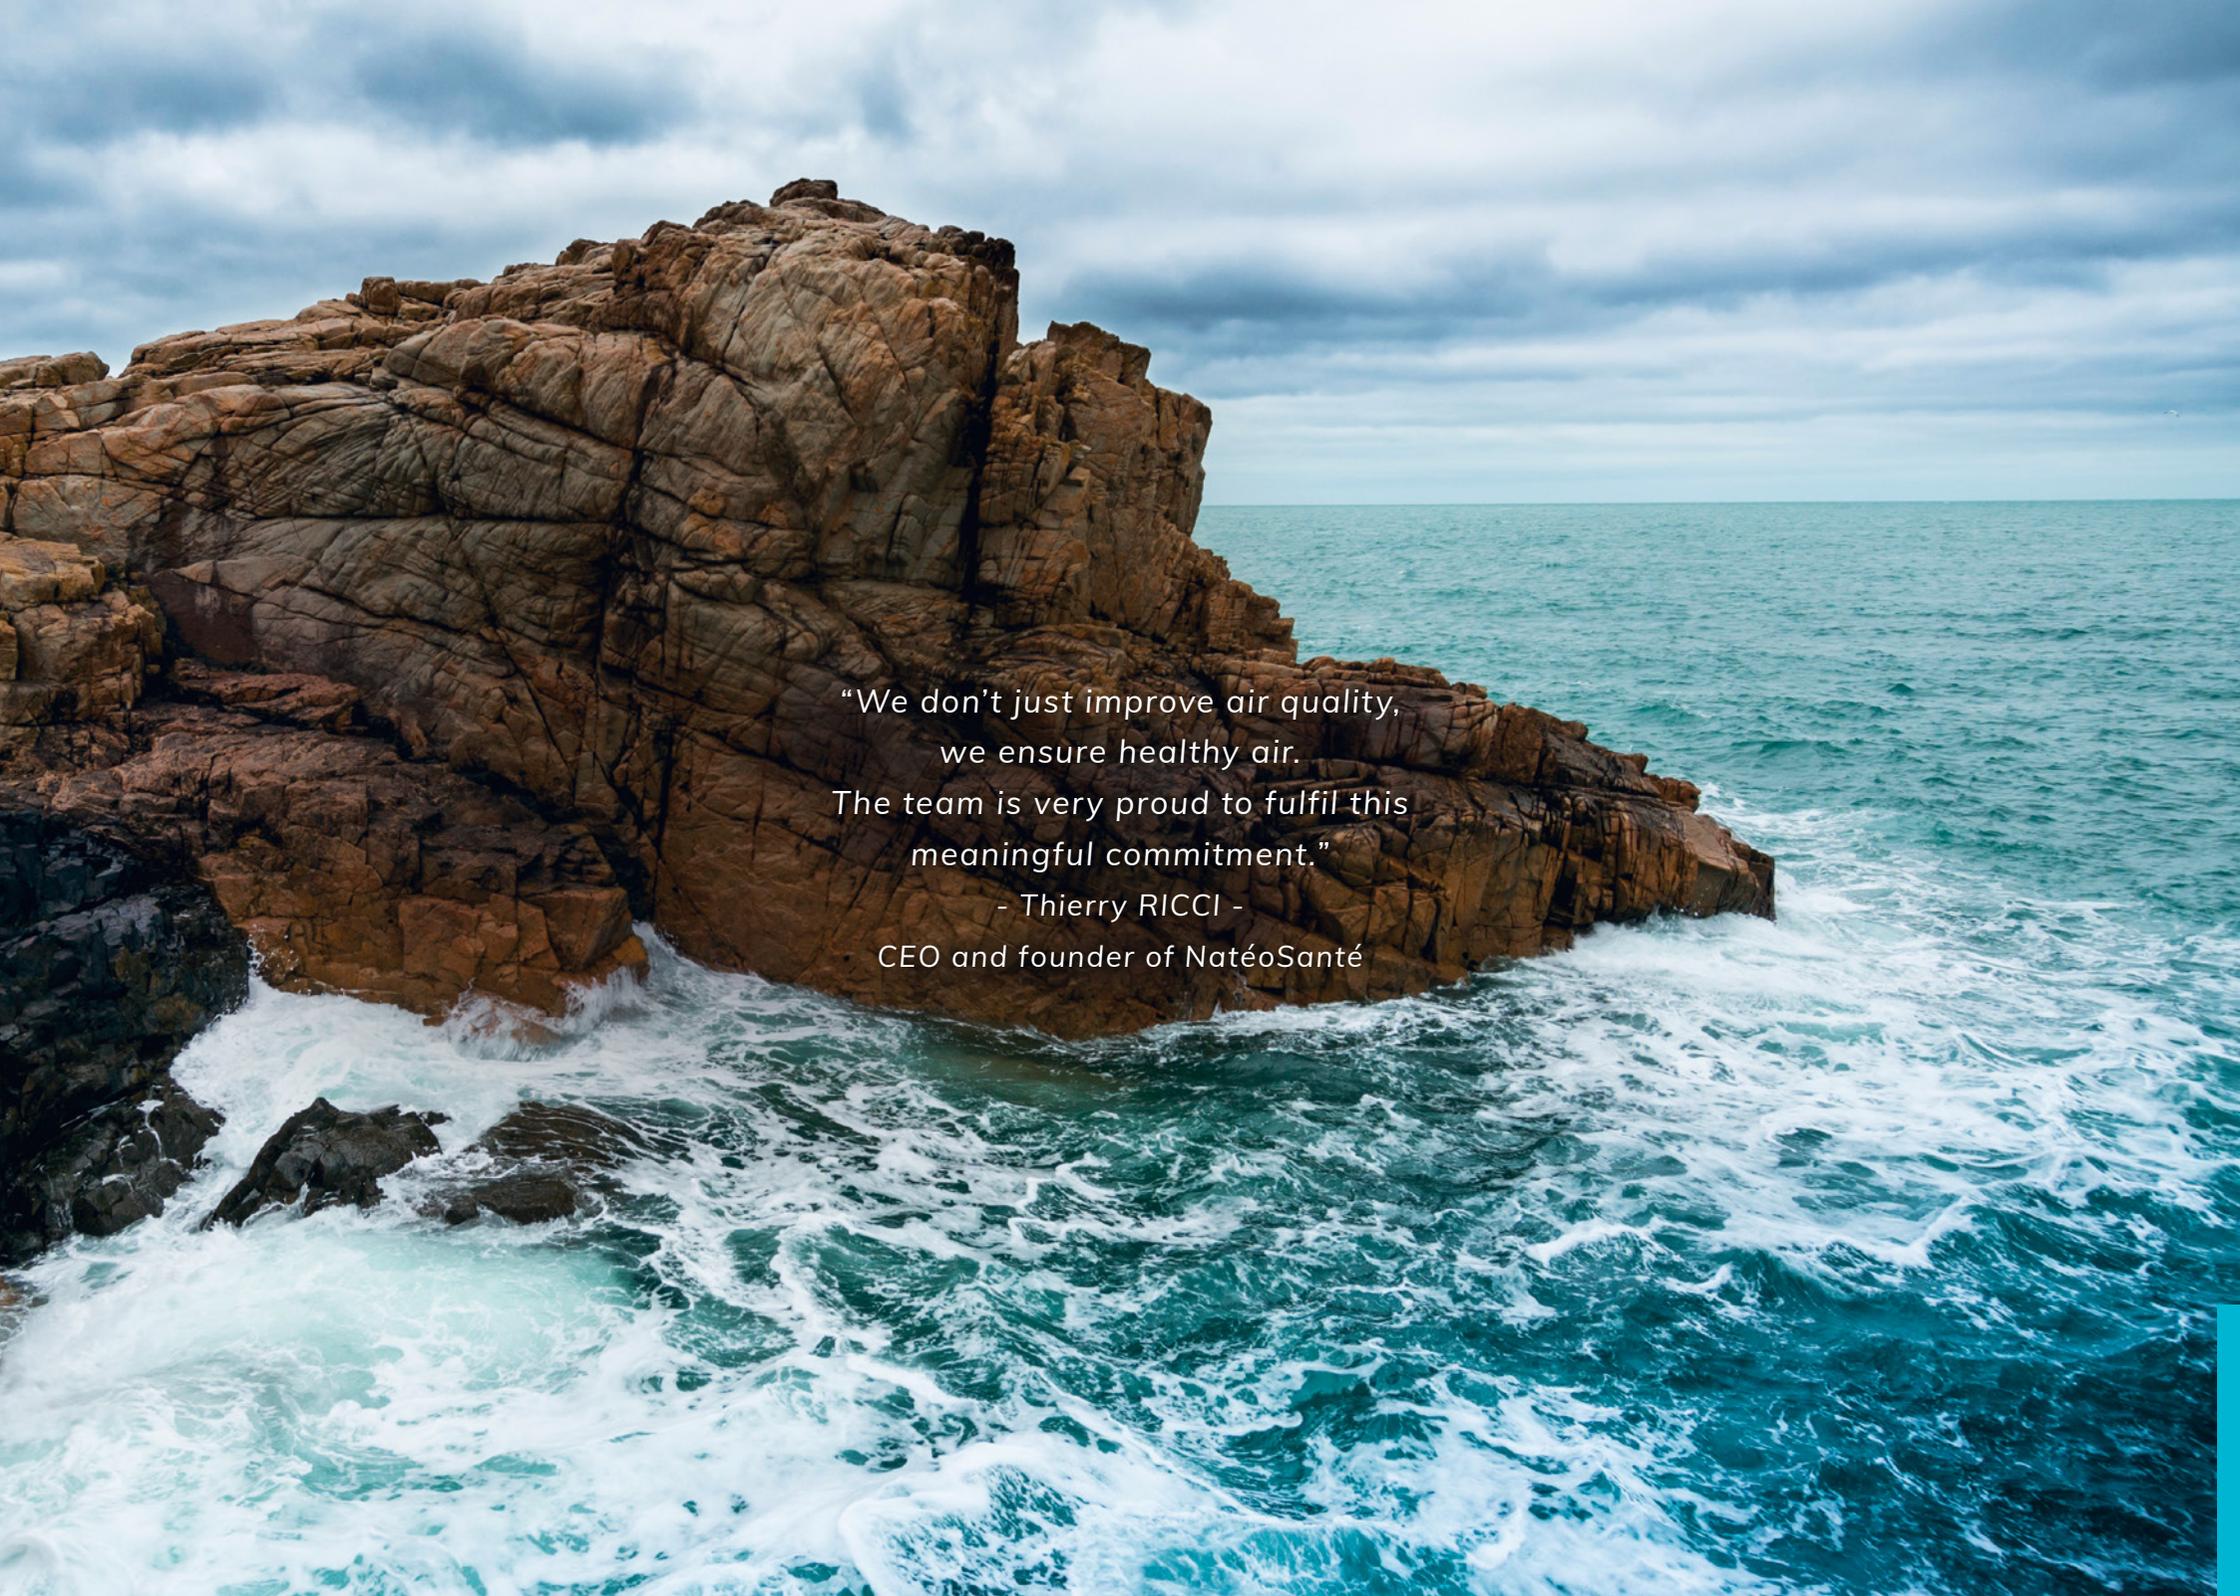

Our story

The origins of NatéoSanté lie in the story of one man. In 2007, Thierry Ricci was suffering from chronic allergies and had difficulty breathing. The medicinal solutions offered to sooth his symptoms did not agree with him. Whilst looking for alternatives, he discovered air purifiers and understood that his health was a reflection of the quality of the air he breathed. It was then that he decided to act, in order to cure not only his own condition but also that of other hyper-sensitive people.

After many months of R&D, Thierry Ricci designed and developed his first air purifier in 2009, relying on his skills as an electronics engineer. NatéoSanté was then born with the aim of providing everyone with a high-performance solution which does not release any pollutants.

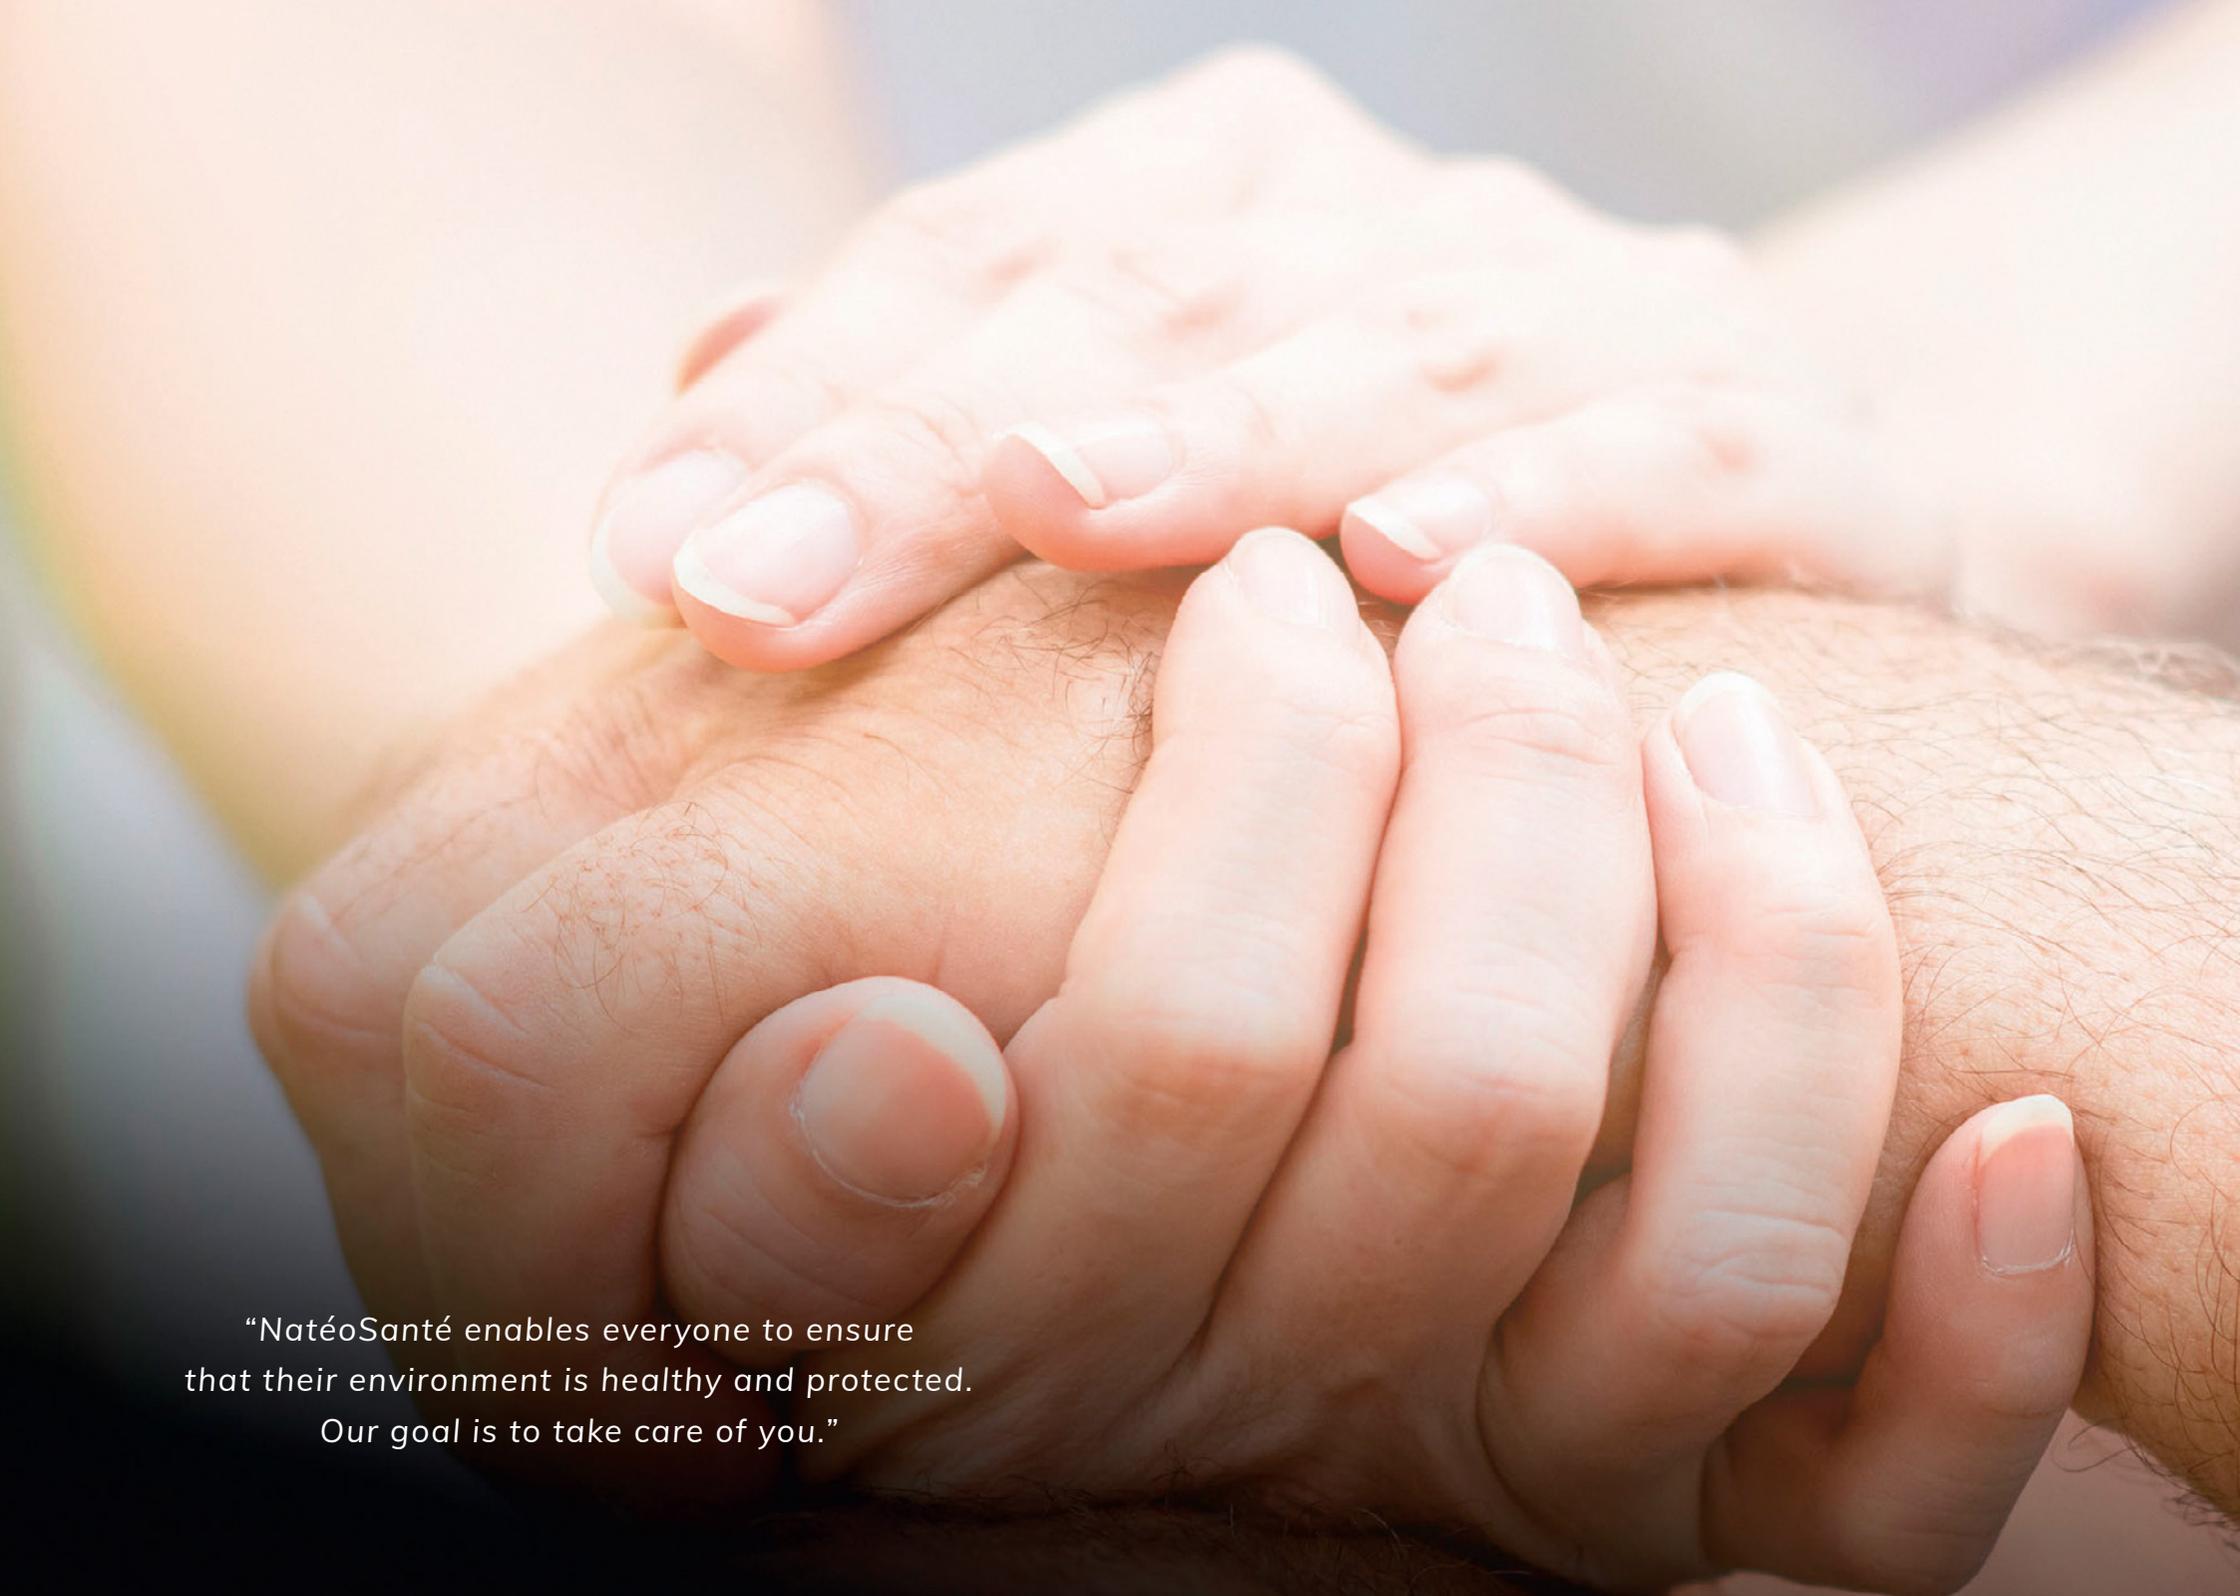

“We don’t just improve air quality,
we ensure healthy air.
The team is very proud to fulfil this meaningful commitment.”

The hands are positioned in the center of the frame, with the fingers of the top hand gently resting on the back of the bottom hand. The skin is light-toned, and the nails are short and clean. The background is softly blurred, showing hints of other people's hands, suggesting a communal or caregiving environment. The lighting is warm and natural, highlighting the texture of the skin and the gentle grip.

Personal commitment

Since the birth of NatéoSanté, our driving force has been the conviction that we are acting for the health and well-being of all and that we have the personal and technological skills necessary to offer well-designed, high-performance and environmentally friendly products.

Health is a social issue. This awareness is strong and persistent within the NatéoSanté teams. We are committed to considering the specific needs of each of our clients and to guarantee healthy air to each individual or company that uses our solutions. We want to restore air to its essential role: to allow us to breathe, to work and to live in complete tranquillity.

Our mission is also being expanded internationally to raise awareness of air quality, which is essential to everyone's health, beyond our borders.

Eco-Design & Safety

Purifying the air without emitting pollutants: an obvious choice for NatéoSanté. Eco-design is one of our primary commitments, because we want to limit our products environmental impact throughout their life cycle.

Improving our customers well-being and quality of life commits us to acting responsibly in the manufacture of our products, by choosing non-emissive, easily recyclable materials, without additives, paint or glue. By selecting high quality components, we increase the durability of our products and refuse planned obsolescence.

Our air purifiers are therefore eco-designed and do not release any pollutants into the air. The safety of EOLIS Air Manager has been verified by the ETV (Environmental Technology Verification) programme supported by the European Commission and ADEME.

100% French manufacturing

As a responsible player in society, NatéoSanté has chosen to manufacture its solutions in France in order to minimise their environmental impact.

All components are produced and assembled locally. The production units of NatéoSanté air purifiers are located in the Pays de la Loire region.

This French manufacture reflects our know-how and our high standards: excellence must be the key word when it comes to health.

Technological expertise & Performance guarantees

NatéoSanté solutions are the result of many years of R&D and several patents. The demand for results is at the heart of our approach and feeds our commitment to continuous product improvement.

Our air purifiers are tested by independent laboratories and their effectiveness certified on numerous pollutants. Because in matters of health there is no room for doubt, at NatéoSanté, what we say is systematically and scientifically verified.

Our devices are equipped with a medical grade filters unit, developed exclusively by NatéoSanté and individually certified before use. The most innovative technologies complete this filtration system, such as UV-C lamps or controlled active oxygen.

“Beyond equipping yourself with a NatéoSanté air purifier,
you become part of an adventure.
We refuse to accept fate: we can change things”

“Commitment to our customers by guaranteeing our solutions performance is in NatéoSanté’s DNA”

Innovation

With a true vision of innovation in the service of health, NatéoSanté works every day for better air quality in order to prevent rather than cure.

For our R&D team, innovation means knowing how to overturn established models and take advantage of existing technologies in a new way.

We were the first to break away from the idea of a device with concealed functionality by offering air purifiers with embedded intelligence and clear user data displays.
